(By The Associated Press.)
MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, June 26.—Having given a renewed but brief demonstration for Wm. G. McAdoo, the Democratic National Convention today plunged into a rip-roaring demonstration for Alfred E. Smith, the principal McAdoo demonstration of yesterday, the Smith demonstration was added and pushed along by a complete organization of demonstrators, marching into the hall from the outside, bearing banners and noise-making devices.

Galleries and guest sections obviously filled with friends of the New York governor for today's event took up a continuous series of yells, howls, and whistles. No sooner had Franklin D. Roosevelt finished his speech placing the New York governor in nomination than the galleries broke loose.

Bands, rosters armed with megaphones, cheer leaders, singers and others with all the equipment of professional demonstrators burst out into the main floor. From points of observation on the speakers' stand it appeared that roughly half the delegate space was taken part in the demonstration either by shouting to the main floor parties which bore various state standards, or by standing on chairs and waving flags and joining in the cheering.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, N. Y., June 26.—A demonstration for Alfred E. Smith, the Democratic National Convention today opened up with a new demonstration for Wm. G. McAdoo. Smith boosters and boosters had been packed into the hall for the demonstration for McAdoo and the McAdoo demonstration was on anew with fresh vigor and force after an overnight rest.

State standards were rushed into the aisles at the head of a push, milling columns of McAdoo boosters who pushed and wormed their way through the hundreds packed there. The demonstration began to take shape as the galleries began to rise. The McAdoo demonstration was on anew with fresh vigor and force after an overnight rest.

Chairman Walsh rebuked the noise makers and got a round of applause. The New York governor's name was called and the galleries stood up in a testimonial of approval for Churman Walsh.

SEVERE EARTHQUAKE REGISTERED TODAY

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, June 26.—An earthquake extremely severe in character was registered on the seismograph of Georgetown University last night beginning at 8:15 p. m. Eastern standard time, and lasting for three hours.

Father Tondorf, seismologist, placed its maximum severity at 9:45 p. m. and its distance as 1,500 miles from Washington.

unwritten law that prescribes that nothing about a national convention shall come off on time was worse than those on the platform seemed to be making no preparations to call for order.

Again today a wide expanse of the glass roof of the garden had been hauled back so that the delegates could look out directly on the sky and the sun, and the look directly on the sky, however, the look peering had been made in a different place and the hot rays which yesterday wilted the bright sun flowers worn by the Kansas delegation were shifted across the middle aisle to light up New Jersey.

The band went through its usual preliminary concert and in the midst of it Franklin D. Roosevelt, who was to make the speech nominating Smith, was helped up the steps to the platform and given a cheer from the floor.

The preliminary stages of tribute to Smith were riding a rising wave of noise and disorder. From its first feeble squeaks and scattered yells, echoing across the vast amphitheater, it had mounted to a continuing roar. The galleries were packed and the delegates were shouting and waving flags.

At 11 o'clock Senator Walsh began pounding for order. But the aisles were crowded with delegates who wanted to talk over this or that overnight. The demonstrators and workers for the candidates.

An army of sergeants-at-arms used their best persuasive powers to induce the grinding mass of humanity to disperse and leave the hall. The McAdoo demonstration was on anew with fresh vigor and force after an overnight rest.

EFFORTS TO WEAN AWAY DELEGATES FROM M'ADOO BEGUN, MAKING HEADWAY

Trades and Bargains Being Consummated on Every Side—Newton Baker and Thomas Walsh Figure as Most Prominent Dark Horses Now.

(By The Associated Press.)
MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, N. Y., June 26.—Strategy is no sin, said Senator Pat Harrison in his keynote speech, and the managers for the fifteen or more candidates aspiring to the presidential nomination are taking him at his word.

The effort to wean away delegates from McAdoo has begun in earnest and some headway is being made. Trades and bargains looking to the accumulation of second choice pledges are being consummated on every side.

The McAdoo lines will hold for at least five ballots. Some defections may then be expected but at present the McAdoo management is confident of a last ditch strength which amounts to more than one-third of the number of delegates here.

The McAdoo "last ditch" delegates will not go to Governor Al Smith. They are so vehement in their expressions of bitterness at treatment received here that they are beginning to say they will cast their strength in any other direction but that of Smith.

POST WAR TRAGEDIES INVOLVE HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF LIVES

(By EDNA MARSHALL)
(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee)
WASHINGTON, June 26.—Post-war tragedies involving hundreds of thousands of American lives—stories of boys who have disappeared whose families are vainly seeking them—have been brought to light by the granting of the soldier bonus.

Uncounted numbers of veterans of the world war are today listed on the army and navy department rolls as missing and more are being listed daily. They do not lie unidentified in French graves. They were not lost in action. They came home safe from service. But they have disappeared since returning to this country, leaving behind them without a hint as to their whereabouts.

Their bonuses probably never will be paid. Unless they can be proved dead, their dependents undoubtedly will be without added compensation for the services of their fighting fathers.

EARLY START ON DRAFT OF PLATFORM IS BEGUN

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, June 26.—With the Ku Klux Klan and the League of Nations left as the paramount issues, the drafting committee of the Democratic National Convention, and Senator Pittman were given the task of drawing up the first draft early this morning after the sub-committee of eleven appointed to formulate the platform agreed on principles and decided to submit to the whole committee alternative proposals on both the Klan and League.

Republican Party Scored in Connection With Oil Cases—Coolidge and Fall Assailed.

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, June 26.—A tentative draft of the Democratic platform containing alternative proposals on the Ku Klux Klan and the League of Nations was submitted today to the platform sub-committee of eleven.

There was considerable committee discussion of the plank dealing with corruption in public office. As presented by the platform committee, the plank party in connection with the oil scandal and attacks Albert E. Fall, for the naval oil leases to Edward L. Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair.

President Coolidge also came in for attack in the plank declaring that the investigations which led to the disclosures were permitted by "an unwilling and reluctant executive."

After the committee had been in session for more than two hours, Chairman Cummings, who had arrived meantime, issued this statement: "The present situation is simply this: Senator Pittman and myself stayed here until 6 o'clock this morning, completing the draft of the platform and the full sub-committee, which assembled at 11 o'clock is now having read to it the platform very carefully and word for word and making verbal changes and modifications of expression. It is rather slow and tedious work and we have not gone over, up to this time, more than one-fourth of the platform. I imagine at the rate we are going we will not finish it for several hours."

After the plank was taken up, controversial planks, which included the League of Nations, the so-called Klan plank and one or two others, matters upon which there may be difference of opinion. Included possibly may be the question of the Ku Klux Klan, the subject matter produces some further debate but I don't think so.

"After we get to the controversial subjects it is a fair guess that there will be considerable debate and the matters may be decided by the sub-committee presenting to the full committee alternative plank. So I would say now that it is almost certain that there will be one subject on which alternative planks will be submitted."

"I do not think that we can get the platform to the full committee until late tonight and I see no prospect of reporting the platform to the convention until tomorrow. The platform is rather long. It is necessary to compress it because of the number of subjects we must cover. There are, roughly speaking, 34 or 35 subjects."

The drafting committee had managed, however, after working eleven hours, to agree on the major issues involving farm relief and prohibition declarations and was called at eleven o'clock this morning to pass upon the Cummings-Pittman draft prior to making a report to the whole committee.

With reference to prohibition, the sub-committee decided upon a declaration for law enforcement without naming the eighteenth amendment or the Volstead Act and on farm relief, the sub-committee decided to submit to the whole committee alternative proposals on both the Klan and League.

One of the principal party declarations—the plank on corruption in public office—was almost overlooked during the lengthy discussion of the more difficult problems but was easily disposed of when reached.

Other planks which presented few stumbling blocks and were more or less definitely agreed upon during the eleven-hour session included declarations for federal regulation and control of corporations and combinations controlling necessities with specific mention of the anthracite industry, immediate independence for the Philippines under conditions set forth in the Jones act, legislation to prohibit the "watering" of stock and improvement of waterways and highways with measures to safeguard them for the public welfare.

There was some discussion in the drafting committee of recommending to it a platform committee that it put the Klan issue up to the convention but the plan of submitting two drafts on the subject was decided upon in the hope that an agreement could be reached which might avoid the bitterness that a floor fight would involve.

Numerous threats have been made, however, to bring the issue before the convention regardless of the platform committee final decision and E. H. Stinson, former manager of the group supporting Former Governor James M. Cox for the presidential nomination, (Continued on Page Three.)

Get Inspiration In Subway

By NEA BOOK SURVEY
Poetry knows no bounds. In the heart of any great city one can find the Muse.

That's why Gertrude Callaghan seeks inspiration in the New York City Subway. It is while moving to and fro in the constant rush and bustle of the world's greatest city that Miss Callaghan's poetic flights are most frequent.

"Right in the heart of New York from day to day, Miss Callaghan declares there is more poetic inspiration to be found there than in all the country side of Jersey, or any other State."

"Cities, great cities," says Miss Callaghan, "are man's poetic masterpiece. They represent practical poetry. That is why I would rather interpret life in cities."

Miss Callaghan has spent much of her life in travel; having toured the world's greatest cities; but has yet to find a place where there is greater poetic opportunity than in New York. She is a radio fan, and is never more delighted than during a poetic recital in the air.

It was during a recent recital that Miss Callaghan received her greatest thrill. While listening in, she heard familiar words from one of her recitals. Later she received letters from unknown persons in all parts of the country.

It is the belief of Miss Callaghan that radio will do much to encourage poetry. "At least one thing has been accomplished by the radio for poetry," says the Washington Heights poet, "and that is to prove poetry appeals as much to men as women."

Had it not been for a heresy trial within the month we would be inclined to label as "old-fashioned" Dr. Algernon Sidney Crapsey's book, "The Last of the Heretics" (Knopf). The book was extremely startling in 1906, when Dr. Crapsey became a widely discussed figure in the theological world due to his then unheard of candor and frank discussion, now, is a commonplace piece of modernism, and a mere whetstone of subjects of considerable discussion. Dr. Crapsey's book title seems a misnomer. Possibly he might have called it "Heretics," "The Advance Guard of the Heretics," but scarcely does he earn the title of "Last." The heretical hosts are just

Resumption of the calling of the roll for nomination in order but there was a short delay while the convention secretary read some announcements, including an invitation to delegates to attend a reception this afternoon at Tammany Hall.

May Kennedy of the Bronx, named vice chairman of the convention yesterday was introduced by Senator Walsh and made a short speech thanking the delegates for their honor and presence at the convention. He said the delegates would help to swell the tide of Democratic victory in November.

The convention gave her a cheer, when she rose to speak and repeated the pledge of the Democratic party. Senator Walsh turned over the gavel to Miss Kennedy and for the first time in history a national convention was in the guiding hand of a woman. She directed the secretary to continue the roll call.

Colorado, the first on the list, did not respond at first, but a moment later Governor W. E. Sweet appeared on the platform himself urged by friends to accept the nomination of Wm. G. McAdoo in behalf of his state. A previous plan to place Mr. Sweet's name formally before the convention and first two of the ballot before going to McAdoo apparently had been abandoned. There were several minutes of cheering when the name of McAdoo was pronounced by Gov. Sweet and several delegations undertook to organize a delegation. Individual delegates took up the state standards of Georgia, California and Texas started a parade around the hall but the state of Ohio, who had difficulty in marching, the McAdoo people manifested had stolen a march on the partisans of Smith, by injecting the name of the former treasury secretary into the proceedings at an unexpected place.

The standards of the canal zone, Nevada, Kentucky, Arizona, South Dakota, Idaho, Montana, Hawaii, District of Columbia, Oklahoma, Washington, South Carolina, Florida, New Mexico, Utah, Oregon and North Carolina eventually were brought into the parade.

But the Colorado standard, despite Gov. Sweet's presence on the platform, remained in its place, held fast by a half dozen anti-McAdoo delegates.

It was only a short parade and it was punctuated throughout by cries of "oil, oil, oil" from the galleries. When Gov. Sweet went on with his speech, the galleries again took a hand in the proceedings and he had to stop while Senator Walsh again took the gavel and sought to restore order.

"Oil, oil, oil" flew the shouts of the Smith men from gallery to gallery in a great growing chorus. Senator Walsh finally got the audience quiet and when he said he hoped the guests in the gallery would courteously treat all of those who appeared on the platform, the New York delegation took the lead in the applause from the floor. Standing in their places, the New York delegates waved their hands and cheered the chairman.

A delegate from Texas, a McAdoo State, shouted up to the chairman a motion that if any speaker were interrupted again those responsible be put out of the hall, but the secretary called the name of Connecticut. That State yielded to New York and the Smith noise makers cut loose with a blast that rocked the entire garden.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, responding for New York, had been given a place on the platform just back of the chairman and he had to be lifted from his chair when he rose to make his combative speech for Smith. On crutches, he made his way forward to the speaker's stand, leaning forward, supported himself by leaning forward, the pulpit-like table that had been placed there for him. It was five minutes before the cheering stopped and he began his speech. The demon-getting under way, it would seem. As an autobiography, Dr. Crapsey's book is most interesting. His church adventures are possibly quite similar to those many of the "modernists" are enjoying. As an extremely sensitive nature he might have been expected to be harassed to hurt in all most any field. The early part of his story, laid in Ohio, indicates the dawn of the extreme sensitivity. Doubtless it is a tremendous event for a churchman to be called "heretic" but, to the average newspaperman, whose daily life calls for unlimited heresies, it seems hard to get away from the feeling that self-consciousness was one of Dr. Crapsey's ruling characteristics.

stration came from both floor and galleries, nor was it confined to those who are in sympathy with the candidacy of Gov. Smith. There was in the touch of a personal tribute to the man who had fought and lost with James M. Cox in 1920 and who for years had been a loyal party worker. As he started speaking the convention was quiet but it had been a long time since the president at yesterday's session. Both delegates and galleries listened attentively and the Smith delegates and boosters responded repeatedly with sharp crashes of applause.

One of the passages most loudly applauded was an interpolation that the delegates and the galleries interpreted as referring to the king issue.

"With all the sincerity in my heart," he said, "I entreat you in balancing on your party platform tomorrow to guide your decisions by those words of Lincoln, with malice toward none, with charity toward all."

The former assistant secretary of the navy put a great deal of emphasis in his speech and used vigorous gestures despite his physical infirmities. His soft, but clear voice, apparently was heard throughout the hall. The usual rumbling of conversation that accompanies nominating speeches was almost entirely absent.

As Mr. Roosevelt approached the end of his speech, the delegates who packed the garden applauded more and more frequently his thrusts at the opposition and his recitation of the record of his candidate. Again and again there were bursts of cheering, led by the New York delegation and the Smith workers as the speaker described the rise of Al Smith from a poverty stricken home on the east side to the governor's mansion at Albany.

At the same time the aisles on the convention floor and in the galleries had become more and more crowded with those who were to take part in the demonstration that would follow the conclusion of Mr. Roosevelt's address.

A score of ten-foot lithographs of Gov. Smith were borne into the procession along with thousands of American flags. The convention band and the Smith noise-makers in the galleries swung into the Smith campaign songs, but the cheering of the parade almost silenced them.

In dense streams the boosters poured out from beneath the stage into the churning mass of yelling marchers. They brought with them other things that seemed to have no other use than to demonstrate their devotion to the cause. The McAdoo delegates stood on their chairs the better to see the spectacular show being staged by their rivals.

Close behind came that of New Jersey, then followed Connecticut, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Rhode Island, Pennsylvania, Vermont, Iowa, North Dakota, Nevada and Hawaii.

Smith rosters who had been in their places from the start of the whooping may for all they were worth. Most of the delegates were in their seats, although the procession of state standards continued unbroken.

After playing all the old tunes over once, the convention band stationed above the stage started them over again in just time. The band marching on the floor swung into "Yankee Doodle" and a moment later a new Smith band which had before been blocked outside, broke into the convention floor to the tune of "Over There."

As the Smith musicians passed along in front of the speakers stand, a group of women delegates from Missouri who were for McAdoo, stood on their chairs in the front row and dropped big wads of paper into the maws of the wind instruments. But that did not lessen the din which the hall had been anguished from the beginning of the demonstration.

Most of the marchers wore no badges to identify them. Many of them had paper hats of bright colors, which had been named around before hand. As they shuffled along it became evident that they also had been provided with more varieties of noise making apparatus than a gang of kids out on a halcyon day.

And they were using all of them. McAdoo watched the demonstration, chatting with a group of men and women from her husband's campaign headquarters.

The demonstration passed the three quarter hour mark the din seemed to be increasing rather than diminishing. A battery of fire sirens and bells of many kinds had been brought into action at which the entrance and it was almost impossible for those in the hall to converse with one another at all because of the continual clatter and screech with which the supporters of the New York governor were reaffirming their faith in error.

The air above the garden was thick by this time with the flying bits of paper that had been dumped out of office buildings as a part of the demonstration. It was evident that the Smith people both inside and outside the convention hall were determined to surpass by a safe margin both in noise and in elapsed time, the one hour demonstration yesterday for McAdoo.

When the demonstration had reached an hour's duration it was going as strong as ever. A few of the state standards had been returned to their places by the marchers, but most of the original company of them remained in the parade, mostly carried by men who were not delegates. A delegate badge at this stage was a rarity among the demonstrators.

It was apparent that the duration of the parading and noise making was only a question of how long the Smith managers might decide to let it go on before closing down the sirens, calling off the bands and passing the word to the rosters to file out.

Through the center aisle an enormous bouquet of flowers, carried high above the demonstrators, was sent from the platform to Mrs. Smith, who was in a box with Mrs. Roosevelt at the rear of the hall, near that occupied by Mr. McAdoo.

At the hour and a quarter mark, Mr. Roosevelt waved to his lieutenants on the floor to quiet the demonstration. Senator Walsh began hammering with the gavel, and Mr. Roosevelt, on his crutches, he raised a hand for silence, and slowly the great hall began to quiet down.

Anna Case, the Metropolitan Opera star, who had been in the garden since the beginning of the demonstration, and brought the crowd to a halt to complete order by singing "The Star Spangled Banner." Most of the demonstrators remained in the hall and joined in the chorus, howling and singing at arms with the usual fervor of the McAdoo suite in the Vanderbilt hotel and constantly is receiving and talking with delegates and other convention visitors.

Final Tribute to Navy Dead

Here are the last solemn rites for the 48 officers and men killed in the explosion aboard the battleship Mississippi in San Pedro (Calif.) harbor. At the Cleveland Convention, which was so lambasted by Keynote Harrison, Mr. Campbell was chief parliamentarian. He was always at the front of the platform ready to "parliamentize" but the convention was so well organized that no question arose and the abilities of the well known Kansan were not called into play.

The "senatorial oligarchy" of which former Governor Cox used to complain in that last campaign, is catching in it and heavy in this convention. The "oligarchy" had reached its heights in 1920 when it dictated the nomination of Warren Harding and wrote the party platform.

Much Debate On Plank Dealing With Scandal

tion said last night that he intended to fight on the floor for specific denunciation of the plank unless the plank submitted should meet his views.

Dissatisfaction with the law enforcement plank also was expressed in some quarters, being emphasized in a statement by John T. Flood of the association against the prohibition amendment, that John H. McCann, of Pennsylvania, was prepared to fight in the platform committee for a modification plank and if unsuccessful to carry his cause to the convention floor.

It was prepared by Chairman Homer S. Cummings and Senator Key Pittman, of Nevada, on the basis of discussions which continued before the sub-committee until an early hour this morning. Immediately after the sub-committee assembled, it summoned Owen D. Young, of New York, for a brief discussion of his plank, proposing American co-operation with other nations through the League of Nations or other associations; criticizing the present administration for its foreign policy and denouncing the use of unofficial observers abroad.

William Jennings Bryan presided in the absence of Chairman Cummings, who with Senator Pittman, had remained up all night whipping the platform draft into shape. Mr. Bryan was summoned from the committee room by a spokesman for Wm. G. McAdoo, one of the candidates for the presidential nomination, with whom he conferred briefly.

The sub-committee hoped to conclude its work before night and it was the plan to present the finished draft to the entire platform committee late this day. It was the hope to have the platform ready for consideration by the convention tomorrow. Whether there will be a fight on the floor over the plank and league issues depended, leaders said, on the action of the United States district attorneys and deputy marshals after they had failed to appear before him to explain how they obtained possession of the woman without a warrant while she was in state custody. Less than an hour later federal Judge James H. Wilkerson issued an order restraining county authorities from making the arrest.

WHITE FELT HATS
Clean white felt hats by rubbing with a mixture made by combining a quart of cornmeal with a cupful each of salt and flour. Let the mixture stand on the hat over night and brush off the next day.

USE LITTLE WAX
Apply the thinnest possible film of wax to a floor and polish it until it is hard and lustrous. Too much wax will make it slippery and too little will leave it sticky and dull looking.

NEARLY DRY
Woolens should be nearly dry when ironed.

Lively Fight Over Arrest of Woman

(By The Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, June 25.—Orders in the state courts for the arrest of eight federal officials followed by a federal court order restraining county authorities from making the arrest. The livery jurisdictional clash over possession of a woman held in connection with the $3,000,000 hold up near Chicago two weeks ago of a Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul mail train.

Judge William Lindsey in the county circuit court issued the orders for the arrest of eight assistant United States district attorneys and deputy marshals after they had failed to appear before him to explain how they obtained possession of the woman without a warrant while she was in state custody. Less than an hour later federal Judge James H. Wilkerson issued an order restraining county authorities from making the arrest.

SORE, BLEEDING GUMS STOPPED IN 12 HOURS

Crescose, A Pleasant Liquid That Accomplishes At Home all the Good Benefits of Treatment In Dental Chair Without the Pain and Expense.

Sore, bleeding gums indicate the beginning of pyorrhea. If neglected the infection spreads from the gum tissue to the root sockets—the foundation on which your teeth depend. Then the teeth fall out or must be pulled. Through a new discovery, Crescose, a pleasant, germ-killing, germ-destroying liquid used by the dental profession carries the medication direct to the roots of the teeth, relieving pain, tightening loose teeth, and destroying the decayed teeth and killing the germ that leads to pyorrhea. The medicines used in Crescose are not new but are well known and used by the entire dental profession. The new discovery is the method of penetration which carries the gum-healing, germ-destroying medicines direct to the roots of the teeth and into every corner and crevice in and between the teeth, thereby accomplishing at home, in a pleasant way, all the good benefits of a treatment in the dental chair, without the pain and expense. If your gums are sore and bleed easily or your teeth sensitive or loose, this is your warning of pyorrhea ahead. Do not wait one minute, but go immediately to any good drug store, and purchase a dollar bottle of Crescose, with the positive guarantee of relief in twelve hours or money refunded. HOUSTON'S NAME WILL BE PRESENTED TODAY

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 25.—David F. Houston of New York and Missouri, former secretary of agriculture and of the treasury, will have his name presented as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination at tomorrow's session of the national convention by Lewis G. Stevenson, son of the late Adlai E. Stevenson, vice president in the second Cleveland administration.

The original Sabbath day of the third commandment corresponds to our seventh day of the week

DANVILLE HERE TO PLAY CAPITALS THREE GAMES, TODAY LADIES' DAY HERE

The Danville baseball club returned home last night from Greensboro, N. C., where they defeated the double-header with the Carolina team, losing the first in the final inning and taking the second with entire ease. At Stonewall Jackson park at 4:15 this afternoon the Murphmen will play the first of a series with the rejuvenated and now formidable Raleigh team. While it is not yet announced, it is probable that the game will be played in a double-header, weather permitting.

Today, the opening of a home series after a week's absence on the road, will also be Ladies' Day, and the fair ones are expected to be out in force to pull for victory. They will be admitted free to game and grandstand, and will doubtless have little difficulty in finding a gallant man who will set up the peanuts, cold bottles and ice cream bricks and the motor-car ride home.

During the week on the road the Tobacconists have made a very good record, having won three of the four games at Durham, and taken one of the trio at Greensboro. The first game at Greensboro Monday went ten innings, and in yesterday's full game the Carrollmen were fortunate to win the final inning but the margin of one run. This makes a road record of four out of seven, an excellent one for any team in this class. It is difficult to forecast the pitching choice for today, but it is not unlikely to be either Bob Maitland or "Lefty" Westledge, the youngster who won his first start here last week. Pitcher Harris is still out of condition, while Shoaf and Wilson divided most of the work in yesterday's game between them. Both infield and outfield are now working efficiently and with a bit more hitting in the pinches the Tobacconists ought to be ready to begin the race down the home stretch to the pennant fight which ends in September. With the exception of Pitcher Harris all the other members of the team are in very good condition. The team will be welcomed home by a good crowd today if the weather before the hour of play appear favorable.

GIANTS BREAK WINNING STREAK; RAIN INTERVENES (By The Associated Press.)

BROOKLYN, June 25.—New York's winning streak of ten games ended today when a thunderstorm, coming after the Giants had tied the score in the eighth, caused the contest to revert to the end of the seventh, and permitted Brooklyn to win a pitcher's battle between Grimes and Dean by a score of 3 to 2. ROOKIE PITCHER WHOLE WORKS IN PIRATE WIN

PITTSBURGH, June 25.—Pittsburgh defeated Chicago 8 to 7 in a 14-inning game today in which Emil Yde, Oklahoma City southpaw started both in the box and at bat for the Pirates. Yde's double in the fourteenth with two Pirates on base, won the game. By innings: Detroit moved up from third to second place. W. Collins allowed only five hits in eight innings. The visitors had a slugging spree in the third, which brought in their three runs. POINTERS AND WINSTON EACH WIN A GAME

HIGH POINT, June 25.—The Pointers and Twins split a double header here this afternoon, the home club winning the first 10 to 7 and losing the second (seven innings by agreement) 6 to 1, when Thompson kept the Sox out of the box. In the first game Outfielder Rymmer featured with three doubles and a home run in four times at bat. Hamby was on base when his circuit blow came. Standart, first up in the second inning, hit one out of the box. Green one time Twin, hit a home with one on and Meekin duplicated his feat in the seventh with Herndon and L. Thrasher on base. Meekin's homer bounded over the outfield barrier. In the second game the only Pointer run resulted from Meekin's second circuit drive of the day when the second baseman who was first up in the seventh inning, belted the ball over the right field wall. In this game Sherrill, Inman, obtained three hits in as many attempts. LOCALS SWAMP PATRIOTS AFTER LOSING A PRETTY MOUND BATTLE IN FIRST

GREENSBORO, June 25.—Rube Crews outpitched three Danville hurlers here today in the first game of a double header and won, 2 to 1, while the locals blew up in the second game and were snowed under by the visitors to the tune of 12 to 1.

In the first game after Danville had counted in the second inning on a single by Murphy, who scored on McDonald's double they never threatened again. Shoaf held the Patriots scoreless for eight innings, but in the ninth blew up and the only two runs, which were enough to win, trickled across the plate. Carroll opened the final scene with a single, Zitzke singled to centerfield, Carroll taking second. Cox laid down a bunt and all hands were safe. At this point the host derided and Bob Maitland went in to pitch. In pitching to the first batter "Curve Ball" Bob uncorked a wild heave and Carroll trotted across the pan with the tying run, the locals' first of the day. Maitland's control didn't improve after the wild pitch, and Harris was walked, filling the bases again. Maitland was hooked and "Lefty" Wilson went in. Ray, first man to face Wilson, hit toward second base, with Murphy and Staley got it, but Zitzke was too near the plate to make a play there, and the boys trying to get the host's Staley and Staley turned to throw to first, but nobody was at home. However, it didn't matter, as Zitzke's counter ended the game.

In the second affair "Lefty" Wilson had the locals at his mercy the whole route, while the hosts stuck to the "hook" and "bush" and "jinks" Harris, the wonder from the wilds of Alexandria county, off the hill in the first inning before a man had been retired. Sherrill went to Harris' relief and when the side was finally retired, runs had crossed the plate twice. During the first inning frame two home runs were made. Trefry, the first up, was hit by a pitched ball. Staley doubled and Trefry counted. Regan hit a home run, one of his four safeties in the game, cleaning the sacks. Murphy hit and McDonald rallied one out of the box. Sherrill was removed in the fourth inning and Fuhrey took up the pitching burden, doing very well until the final inning, when he weakened and five more runs were chalked up.

CAPITALS WIN FINAL GAME IN 10TH INNING

RALEIGH, June 25.—The Capitals won the closing game of the series here today and thereby swept the series having won Monday, Tuesday and today was a 11-inning tie, the score today was 4 to 3 and the locals pushed the winning run across in the tenth frame.

In the third inning the locals were present with a run when Stringfield singled, stole second and Sessions in attempting to catch him threw the ball into centerfield. Stringfield kept going toward third and Mallonee recovered the wild heave of Sessions and in attempting to throw Stringfield out at third slammed the ball into the beachers. Stringfield counted.

In the tenth frame with the score notted Stringfield, first up, cracked out his fourth hit and scored when Matzen hit one against the fence that was easily good for a triple and the shortstop came in the winning run, tying the game. Play Raleigh Here Today; Robins Defeat Giants

Grandstand Gaff

Too bad some of those twelve runs did not come in that first game. One meal was run in all the locals could send across the platter in that first contest, while in the second they trotted across an even dozen times. They had that first game won until the final chapter when Shoaf weakened after pitching shut out ball. Baseball is baseball, though. Just take a look at the box score of the second game.

The Tobacconists return home today from a week's trip on the road. They didn't make a bad showing either. Four victories out of seven games was the record—a good record for any team in this class of ball. The locals take on Raleigh this afternoon, for the first of three games. They can do no loosing like before when the Capitals were weak. Duncan's game has been strengthened now, and Danville will have to be in there until the last man is out.

Ladies' Day again rolls around but it happens that it falls on Thursday this time and not Monday, so the fair sex are no doubt thinking that they will see Danville win today.

McDonald, Regan and Murphy were the batting stars of the games yesterday.

SENATORS MAKE A CLEAN SWEEP FROM YANKS BY TAKING FINAL GAME, 3-2

(By The Associated Press.) NEW YORK, June 24.—Both New York teams lost yesterday in a pair of seven inning games which were stopped by rain. The Yankees dropped into a third place tie with Boston and the Giants winning streak being stopped by the Brooklyn Robins. The Giants tied the score in the beginning of the eighth when the rain not only stopped the game but washed out their counter. The score reverting to the previous inning, the Yankees were trimmed three to two by Washington which strengthened the Senators hold on first place. The Giants lost by the same score to the Robins. Babe Ruth knocked his eighteenth homer of the season. Detroit moved up into second place by defeating the New York team by defeating St. Louis. The score again was 3 to 2. Rip Collins held the Browns to six hits while Shocker allowed two doubles and a single. Cleveland and Chicago changed places when the White Sox won a double header 2 to 1 and 8 to 1 and moved into sixth place. The Indians dropping to seventh. The Phillies and the Braves split.

For the Game's Sake

(Copyright, 1934, by The Bee.) NEW YORK, June 26.—Cross country running is expected to come back in the middle west this fall. The unusual revival of interest in track and field athletics has marked the season in the section this year and the excellent results accomplished are regarded by Big Ten coaches as pointing definitely to a far better bill and date season than has been noted since the war.

By the way, the fact should not be overlooked that the slender revival of 1924 for the Missouri Valley conference athletes were well up in front and in almost every district non-conference western colleges kept pace with the Big Ten members.

Jack Blott, the University of Michigan catcher who has signed with the Cincinnati Reds is said to have been able to make a wide choice of major and minor league clubs. The St. Louis Cardinals is said to have angled for him and the Syracuse International League club also is reported to have made an offer.

Jack Blott is as fine a catcher as has donned a mitt in the middle west in a long time. A hitting catcher. Blott certainly had the art of placing his bat against the hurtling horsehide.

Anherst is looking to the middle west for baseball recruits. The New England college having signed Paul Stuart, third baseman of the University of Illinois nine, as coach John P. Wilson, who won fame as a trainer at Grinnell, Ames and Iowa, had been signed to go to Dartmouth as trainer, but succumbed to a heart attack before leaving for the east.

Helen Wills in her play against Lillian Scharman at Wimbledon on Tuesday gave signs of reaching her

MIDDLE ATLANTIC GOLFERS BEGIN PLAY IN ANNUAL CHAMPIONSHIP GAMES

(By The Associated Press.) RICHMOND, Va. June 24.—One hundred and sixty of the leading golfers of the middle Atlantic section from Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and the District of Columbia, began play today in the 23rd annual renewal of the Middle Atlantic golf championship over the course of the Hermitage country club here. Playing a stretch course 3,350 yards in length, the entrants were not expected to register low scores over a course which baffled Barzen, Hagen, Havers and Ockenden when they were in Richmond a few months ago. For the course is 23 and has never been equalled by professional or amateur. Fast putting greens and a course as a whole very fast were expected to prove a help in lowering the scores of the qualifiers. The scores of the select field of golfers gathered here for the tournament had shown any indication of playing put golf. The lowest score in pre-tournament play recorded was the 73 registered day. McDonald and Regan soaked out homers and came home last night with a box each of Reds' clothes. He got four safeties out of five times up in the second game.

As to the fielding, the team played stellar ball in both games not an error being chalked up against them. On the other hand Greensboro made seven errors in the second.

"Smoky Joe" Caviness has been signed by Pierre at Durham. Caviness was with Danville in past years but, while at times, pitching good ball, was been unable to make the grade. He lasted only part of the game yesterday, which the Capitals won in the tenth. Incidentally the Capitals won the series from Durham. Therefore it can be seen that Danville will have to be on her toes the present series with them here.

A downpour of rain followed the first game over at Greensboro yesterday a few minutes after Greensboro had rallied and won in the ninth. Too bad that shower didn't come in the eighth and maybe things would have been different.

Bob Matland must have been kind a nervous when he went in to relieve Shoaf and unhooked a wild pitch. He had a reason, though, for in a few hours he was married. Greensboro last night to Miss Solomon of that place. Good night to Bob.

McDonald, Regan and Murphy were the batting stars of the games yesterday.

England's Tea-Shop Girl

KATHERINE MCKANE

America's youthful tennis champion, Helen Wills, fared disastrously in her debut in England, dropping two matches on successive days to players the experts figured she would beat handily.

Her first defeat was suffered at the hands of Mrs. Phyllis Covell, and her second at the racquet of Katherine McKane, the tea-shop girl. Miss McKane, if you haven't already heard, is a tradeswoman and conducts a smart tea room in that dear old London.

HELEN WILLS NEARER HER GOAL IN TENNIS CONTESTS

(By The Associated Press.)

WIMBLEDON, Eng. June 24.—Having raised herself another rung on the Wimbledon ladder through her defeat of Miss Dransfield, of England, yesterday, Helen Wills today found herself appreciably nearer her goal—a final match against Suzanne Lenglen, five times winner of the world championship.

Helen yesterday continued the strong play which marked her first victory in the present tournament and again made a most favorable impression on the gallery by her exhibition of court generalship. Whether in the event of her winning through the finals, the powerful stroking of the American girl could prevail against the nimbleness and dash of the fiery Lenglen, however, is a moot question, as the French star is at the top of her game, covering every inch of the court and placing with deadly accuracy. Suzanne has not lost a game since the tournament started, brushing aside her opponent of yesterday with the usual 6-0, 6-0.

Another sparkling figure in this "woman's Wimbledon" is Kitty McKane, the British champion, who is running away with every match she enters and who stands between Miss Lenglen and the finals. In the men's division of the singles the American Olympic stars continue their steady progress towards the semi-finals, which promise to be a tough assignment today, meeting Norman E. Brookes, the Australian veteran. Vincent Richards takes on Takeo Harada, of Japan.

FEDERAL DRY AGENTS AND POLICE OF CHICAGO IN WAR, RUM SELLERS GLAD TO SEE IT

(Copyright, 1934, by The Bee.)

CHICAGO, June 26.—Chicago's rum selling gentry today is celebrating the outbreak of a war between federal prohibition enforcement agents and police and pulling for its spread to such proportions that neither arm of the law will have time to feel with mere bootlegs for weeks.

The feud, which has smoldered for weeks, was brought to a head by the arrest, at the hands of Chicago police, of nine federal rum sluths, alleged to be out on tour of duty. The nine, police say, were taken in a Chicago "black belt" resort where they had gathered around a big table on which a "black salome" was about to do her stuff.

The agents indignantly maintained that they were there for the sole purpose of getting evidence to warrant a liquor raid. The police say they looked like they were there solely for a good sport in order to get the evidence necessary in their business.

In any event, the issue is joined and is to be fought out in the courts. The issue being: How far can a prohibitionist go in violating the law in his quest for evidence, and still keep out of jail.

Allegations of the arrested agents that their discomfiture was nothing more or less than a revenge plot brings to light the fact that "rough" has been brewing between the local and the federal law enforcers for some time. It dates back according to the arrested agents, to the indictment several weeks ago of police lieutenant Michael Grady in connection with the removal of a million dollars worth of liquor from the Sibley Warehouse here. The police, they declare, have been "sore" ever since that event, and have been laying for a chance to get even. This the police, of course, deny.

The situation is "made to order" for the rum purveyors and local dry organizations are bending their efforts to patch up a truce. The police have conceded to these efforts so far as to say that arrests of federal agents have been very few in the past. Nothing is said about how numerous they may be in the future.

As federal agents they are not saying anything. But if there is anybody on the police force who is in league with the bootleggers, it is a safe tip to him to lay mighty low.

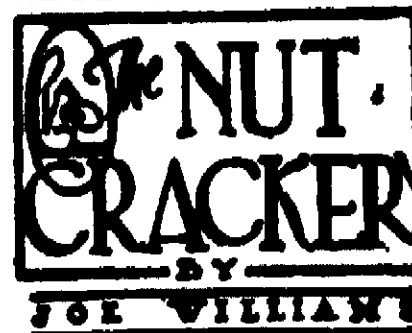

REPUBLICANS REFUSE TO RETURN TO CAPITAL

(By The Associated Press.)

RUTLAND, Mass., June 25.—Twenty-one Republicans, members of the Rhode Island state Senate, declaring their intention to remain here, if necessary, until the present Rhode Island legislature goes out on January 1, 1935, took extraordinary precautions today against possible raids by political opponents.

As federal agents they are not saying anything. But if there is anybody on the police force who is in league with the bootleggers, it is a safe tip to him to lay mighty low.

CAVIAR IN HAMBURG

HAMBURG, June 24.—The world's largest storehouse of caviar—supplying the New York, London and Paris markets—is in Hamburg. Outside of Russia caviar is one of the most expensive luxuries of European tables. But in Petrograd or Moscow it is a common dish of the working man.

BRITISH OPEN GOLF TITLE AT STAKE TODAY

(By The Associated Press.)

NOTLAKE, Eng. June 24.—The British open golf championship was at stake today with the beginning of 72 holes of stroke competition at the links of the Royal Liverpool Club. Including amateurs best and five of the leading professionals of the United States, took off, having earned the right by their low scoring in the qualifying rounds on Monday and Tuesday.

Thirty-six holes are being played today and another two rounds tomorrow, the lowest score taking the coveted prize.

To win means, for a professional, added prestige and consequently increased monetary returns, and for one of the little squad of six British amateurs, an honor seldom attained by one from their ranks.

The United States is represented by Walter Hagen, former title holder; Gene Sarazen, American professional champion; Long Jim Barnes, McDonald Smith and Gil Nicholas. George Duncan, former open champion, who is playing around with Barnes, is one of the British favorites, others being the long driving Abe Mitchell, Arthur G. Havers, defending champion and E. J. Whitcombe, who finished close behind Havers last year.

The amateur entrants include Roger Weathered and Cyril Tolley. Jim Barnes, the former Pelham professional, finished the first day's play at 36 holes in the British open golf championship here with an aggregate of 155. Making 78 in the morning round, Barnes went this a stroke better with a 77 this afternoon.

Barnes took 78 for his first 18 holes and George Duncan, the Englishman with whom he played, 4. Duncan and Barnes were the first couple off the tee and they were followed by a large gallery of early risers.

The weather was hot and calm.

Walter Hagen made a 77 and Gil Nichols a 75.

Other scores for the first 18 holes were Cyril Tolley, 73; Len Holland, 74; Mark Seymour, 74; J. H. Taylor, 75.

George Duncan, 79. Total 155. MacDonald Smith, 74. Arthur Havers, 8; Roger Weathered 75; Alex Herd, 68; Aubrey Boomer, 75.

With about half of the field in from the first round Cyril Tolley, the crack amateur, was leading with 77. Gene Sarazen failed to keep pace with the other stars in the first round taking 82.

High winds and high scores ruled in the morning round, only 27 out of the 56 entrants breaking 80 while the only ones below 75 were those who finished early before the winds sprang.

Cyril Tolley, crack British amateur with 76, led the field. Gil Atchison was first among the Americans with 78, followed by MacDonald Smith, 79; Walter Hagen 77; and Jim Barnes 78. Gene Sarazen was thought likely to have put himself out of the running with an 82.

WIDESPREAD ALARM EVIDENT IN JAPAN

(By Frederick Matheson)

TOKYO, June 24.—The veritable panic among the foreigners in Japan today is the result of reports of a widespread alarm among the foreigners in Japan stating that many fear to leave their homes after dark, while a majority are carrying clubs and revolvers. It is believed that many of these reports are considerably exaggerated although unquestionably there is much uneasiness. The chief of police at Yokohama yesterday issued a frash warning to the Japanese that there should be no attempts at reprisals on account of the California incidents.

The police guards stationed near the foreigners' houses and offices were increased. A league of university students at Tokyo will launch a movement to observe July "No sake day" for during that day no intoxicants should be taken. This is not a compliment to dry Americans but an announcement to the world that Japan is remembering the enforcement of the exclusion law with a cold sober hatred against the drunk.

The ill feeling here is augmented by prominently printed dispatches from Tsingtau where American sailors of the destroyer fleet are alleged to have committed excesses while ashore on June 18.

The Japanese dispatches say that the sailors smashed furniture in the Japanese restaurants, refused to pay for meals, and attempted to assault the waitresses. They also smashed the entrances to the houses in the tendorin district and stole various articles and souvenirs.

U. S. TEAM WINS

(By The Associated Press.)

CHALONS, France, June 24.—The United States rifle team won the 400-metre event, the first of the Olympic team shooting competition here today with a score of 145. Lieutenant S. R. Hinds, United States Army, made a perfect score of fifty. France's team was second with 143.

The Creator's Greatest Gift Too much cannot be said regarding the care of the eyes. For in the present day employments we are continually forcing our vision and passing lightly over the seemingly insignificant symptoms which occasionally distress us.

In the entire construction of the human body, no organ is more delicate or intricate, or needs greater care than the eye. It is at once the Creator's greatest gift to mankind and our means of enjoying to the full all the glories of things mundane.

Psychologically, the heaviest hand icap carried by Sam Ralston of Indiana is his unavailability as a subject for snappy slogans. No one can figure out how to rouse enthusiasm with Ralston. No one denies his ability, his sincerity, honesty or his political strength, but popular strength as well as personal and political strength will be needed to warm the waters sufficiently to offset the Coolidge coolness. And right there is where the Carter Glass boomers find an opening for their candidate.

"Let the Light in With Glass," they suggest. "Glass will warm things up. Under Glass the Coolidge coolness can be made to run. If it is so it will melt; if it is so it will be dissipated. 'Who'll be the candidate? Why, it's a cinch! Glass! That's clear!'"

One of the impressive things in the early stages of the convention, to those who followed the preliminary jockeying in the early stages of the pre-convention period, is the apparent insignificance of the Underwood strength.

Outside the Underwood headquarters and the Alabama delegation little attention seems to be given the Alabama senator. Either it has fattened out or Ollie Newman and C. C. Carlin, his managers, have a surprise up their sleeves. They appear cheerful enough. Perhaps they will prove political magicians and still pull out a sizable vote!

As an immediate counter-irritant to the "Keep Cool and Keep Coolidge" cry, pending final selection of a candidate, a new version has been started at national committee headquarters asking that the country "Keep Cool Without Coolidge."

This, however, it is realized, is only a stop-gap. It merely tempers with the slogan situation. It is plainly defensive, not offensive, as a truly good slogan should be.

"All's our pal. He'll beat Cal," is the suggestion from Franklin Roosevelt and Norman Mack of the Smith outfit.

"Catchy, but lacking punch," is the comment of on-the-fence delegates to this Smith phrase.

"Davis and Davis. They Can Save Us!" is the proposal of certain dark horse boosters who are combining in one cry the names of a combination ticket that has caught considerable favor.

"John and Jonathan," is a secondary cry that could be evolved from this ticket, which, as may be seen possesses undoubted elements of real strength.

For the men proposed to be united under these battle-cries are John W. Davis of West Virginia and New York, a "safe and sane progressive," a lawyer and a diplomat, and Jonathan M. Davis, honest-to-goodness dirt farmer, at present governor of Kansas.

"Davis and Davis," say backers of this pair, could sweep the country. "John W. would account for everything east of the Alleghenies. Jonathan M. for everything in the middle west and west. The south, being Democratic, would take care of itself."

Today's Washington Letter

By HARRY R. HUNT

NEW YORK, June 26.—Not the least of the considerations guiding the Democrats as they grope for new combinations from which to evolve a presidential ticket is the matter of campaign slogans. For, after all, a catch phrase may be a more powerful factor in building up popular support than mere matters of a candidate's political or economic viewpoint.

With "Keep Cool and Keep Coolidge" the high point in Republican sloganeering to date, the Democrats are seeking a candidate on whom can be hung a phrase still more stimulating.

McAdoo boosters believe the most effective campaigning could be done through buttons and banners picturing the Democratic rooster with arching neck and flapping wings, emitting a new challenge.

Instead of crowing "Cool-a-doodle do!" according to standardized barnyard formula, this rooster would raise the roof with "McAdoo'll do! McAdoo'll do!"

As an immediate counter-irritant to the "Keep Cool and Keep Coolidge" cry, pending final selection of a candidate, a new version has been started at national committee headquarters asking that the country "Keep Cool Without Coolidge."

This, however, it is realized, is only a stop-gap. It merely tempers with the slogan situation. It is plainly defensive, not offensive, as a truly good slogan should be.
